

VICAR'S DAUGHTER: HOTELIER FACES CHARGES

Matter of luck at Childwall Boys' Club's dance

A 43-year-old hotelier's conduct after he had been staying as a guest at a vicarage did not match that of the vicar, and he took the vicar's stepdaughter to hotels and had sexual intercourse with her, said Mr. Richard Otley, prosecuting at Doncaster today.

Arthur Doley Potter, of Queens House, Leicester Square, London, was charged with unlawfully taking Jane Barber, aged 16, out of the possession of her parents and against their will on May 6 and 7 last, and with sexual intercourse with her.

Mr. Otley said that Potter, for a time prior to the beginning of this year, was manager of the Westbridge House Hotel, and during the time became quite friendly with the vicar of Doncaster, near Doncaster, the Rev. Dennis Smith.

Potter got to know Miss Barber, who was not 17, Mrs. Smith's daughter by a previous marriage.

INVITATION

When Potter lost his job the vicar invited him and his wife to stay with him for a time.

"Unfortunately," Potter's conduct does not seem to have matched that of the vicar's and during the period that he was in the vicar's house, and possibly before, that Potter formed an association with Miss Barber which culminated in the defendant taking her away from her home on Friday, May 6, and staying with her man on May 7, and in Robin Hood's Bay, Yorkshire, and near Pickering, Yorkshire.

Finally, they went to a cottage at Stone-on-the-Wold. It was there that Miss Barber was seen by a police officer on May 8.

Mr. Otley said that asked if he arranged to go away with the girl, Potter said: "Yes, I suppose we did. We talked about it."

Asked if they had lived together as man and wife, he said: "Yes. It was asked if he knew she was only 16, and replied: "Oh yes, it was her birthday yesterday."

Mr. Otley said the girl was 17 on July 13.

STUDENT

Miss Jane Barber, told the court she was a student at the Leeds College of Technology, she had known the defendant for nearly two years.

At the beginning of January, Mr. and Mrs. Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Potter, went to live at the Otton Vicarage. Mr. Potter got a job which meant he was away from home during the week returning most week-ends when they often went out as a group.

In April she went away with Potter on her own to Warwickshire. "Because we wanted to go away on our own for a little while," said Mr. Otley. "Was that decision the result of any discussion with Mr. Potter?"

ROVERS' REPORT BOOST

An Amalgamated Engineering Union official in a factory said the men were off to-morrow and Monday because of the four-day week. But, he added, there might be some trouble on Tuesday.

So far as we can see, everybody appears to be back at work today.

Employees stopped work on Monday after a dispute in the firm and plant, which they said was dirty. Within public of returning to work on Tuesday they halted production again and caused a disturbance outside the company's executive office.

Talks between management and shop stewards and union representatives were held on Tuesday but it was not resumed later today.

An official of the National Union of Vehicle Builders said he expected national officials to take over the talks with the management, but it was too early to say when this would be.

WINSTON S. CHURCHILL BY RANDOLPH S. CHURCHILL

The first five volumes of a work already being described as the most important biography of our time deals with the years from Sir Winston Churchill's birth in 1874 until the end of the Victorian era in 1900. From child, school-boy at Harrow, Sandhurst cadet, subaltern in India, soldier and journalist in the Boer War to his first entry into politics—years when his remarkable personality was being forged—this is a true, vivid and intimate account.

Mr. Randolph Churchill, with the exclusive use of his father's letters and papers, presents this definitive biography as far as possible in his father's own words and in a way so very different from those flabby portraits embedded in verbose speculation and irrelevant detail.

It is a story everyone will want to read. It starts in serial form on Monday in the

Princess Benedikte

Another princess to wed

COPENHAGEN, Thursday.

The Copenhagen newspaper, Ekstra Bladet, today reported rumours in circles close to the Royal Family of a romance between Denmark's Princess Benedikte and German Prince Rüdiger of Saxe-Weimarer-Eisenach.

The newspaper, which on September 12, carried the first report of the engagement of Princess Benedikte to Prince Rüdiger, said the German prince, aged 28, is the second daughter of King Frederick and Queen Ingrid. Their third child, Prince Christian, was born in 1944.

Princess Benedikte, who married Prince Rüdiger in 1965, is the daughter of a German family which traces its lineage back to the 16th century.

Ekstra Bladet said that, according to sources close to the Royal Family, the engagement was hastened by the developing romance of the prince and princess.

"This was because Princess Margrethe, the eldest daughter, was not to be married to Prince Henrik, as she had become engaged," it stated.

Brothers At Arms

A British Army record is being claimed by the 1st Battalion of the Durham Light Infantry, now at Colchester, for the brothers it has serving with it.

The battalion has 22 pairs of brothers serving with it. The 58 brothers range in rank from private to sergeant. They work in nearly every department of the battalion, from the cookhouse to the transport section.

Summons against artist adjourned

When summons against an artist were adjourned, the artist died at Leeds today his solicitor, Mr. H. H. Waterman, said the case involved important issues.

Stamnos Paraschos, aged 33, of Lucas Street, Leeds, appeared on two summonses under the Vagrancy Act of 1824 and 1838 of exposing to public view an obscene picture, and one summons of publishing an obscene article under the Obscene Publications Act of 1959.

Mr. St. Cox, prosecuting, applying for the summonses to be adjourned sine die said the defendant solicitor had given a date for the actual hearing to take place before the end of November.

RIGHT TO TRIAL

Mr. Waterman said he would like to preserve for his client the right of election to go for trial, in case he felt it was the kind of case which should be tried by jury.

With regard to the one under the Obscene Publications Act he has the right of

RALLY TO GO ON

Paisley meets fellow colleagues

The Rev. Ian Paisley, Moderator of Church in Northern Ireland, met his two colleagues, the Rev. John Wylie and the Rev. Ivan Porter, on their release from Crumlin Road Prison, Belfast, today.

All three had been in prison for the past three months for refusing to sign an order to bail to keep the peace for one year.

When Mr. Paisley left the prison today he said that his plans for a Protestant rally in Dundonald, near Belfast, on Sunday would go ahead, whether the Government decided to ban it or not.

Mr. Wylie, Craig Minister of Home Affairs, has power to ban any gathering of three or more people if he considers it likely to result in a disturbance.

VIETCONG STEP UP GRENADE ATTACKS

SAIGON, Thursday. A grenade explosion near an American serviceman's quarters this morning—third such incident this week—wounded four Americans and 100 Vietnamese civilians, a Saigon police spokesman said.

Police later arrested two youths, one wounded by the blast.

In the Mekong Delta, south-west of Saigon, six Vietnamese were killed and 27 wounded in a Vietcong attack on a village.

Executioner remembered

Police and military sources claim the Vietcong have stepped up their terrorism and sabotage in the Saigon area in memory of a Vietcong executed two years ago for spying to the Americans.

Robert McNamara, United States Defense Secretary, said that 138 Vietcong troops had been killed during the past two days, a military spokesman said.

Over North Vietnam, pilots concentrated on hitting waterborne traffic—Reuters.

3,000 MORE WORKLESS ON MERSEYSIDE

There was a rise of nearly 3,000 in the number of people unemployed last month. Figures released today by the Ministry of Labour show that on October 10 there were 22,151 people out of work compared with 19,240 on September 12—an increase of 2,911.

The percentage unemployed on Merseyside has risen from September's 2.5 to 2.8. The average over the whole country is 2.8.

The effects of the economic squeeze are illustrated by the number of people unemployed in the Mersey region. Twelve hundred Merseyside unemployed were placed in the queue compared with only 98 in September.

There was also a drop in the number of unfilled vacancies. There were 6,117 in October, down from 6,117 in September.

BIRKENHEAD UNCHANGED

Liverpool and district—11,840 unemployed in October compared with 11,840 in September. This represents 1.7 per cent of the population compared with 1.5 per cent in September and 1.4 in October last year.

The number registered as unemployed in Great Britain was 437,229. This represents 1.5 per cent compared with 1.5 per cent in September and 1.4 in October last year.

STRIKE AT NO-SMOKE GAS PLANT

Men employed on one of the two gas-making plants, being closed at the Maier Works, Glasgow, stopped work today.

They are understood to have asked their employers for extra pay. The firm's reply was that the men's demands should be made through the unions.

When the men did not resume work the firm—Humphreys and Glasgow Ltd.—said it considered the men's withdrawal of labour without notice as a breach of contract.

A spokesman for the company said that the No. 1 plant, on which the men were working, was nearly completed and was required urgently for commissioning by the Waite Gas Board. Work was continuing on the No. 2 plant.

The men, who had asked for a pre-commissioning payment for an overtime payment for working after 5 p.m. to make up for time lost in holding meetings during working hours, were refused a claim by men's union.

While the men are waiting for the extra is an increase of only one in the number of girls (224).

During the four weeks ending October 3 employment was found for 3,730 men, 1,753 women and 1,566 boys and girls in the development area. The figures for the city of Liverpool were 1,846 men, 1,047 women and 864 boys and girls.

The number of registered unemployed in the North Western Region on October 10 was 52,678. This represents 1.7 per cent of the population compared with 1.5 per cent in September and 1.4 in October last year.

TRIAL OPENS ON NOVEMBER 14

The trial of the two men, John Duddy and John Witty, charged with the murder of three police officers, was opened today at the Old Bailey, London, by Mr. Attorney-General Sir Elwyn Jones, Q.C.

Duddy, aged 37, a driver of a television set, Trevor Street, North Kensington, and Witty, aged 36, unemployed, of Farnham Road, Paddington, had been committed for trial charged with murdering Detective Sergeant Christopher Heaton, Detective Constable David Wombell and Constable Geoffrey Fox at Braybrook Street, Shepherd's Bush, on August 12.

Mr. Michael Corkery, Treasury Counsel, applied to Mr. Justice Glyn-Jones for a late all of indictment to be lodged, and said it might be there might be further charges. The judge agreed.

Bedside picture may help trap bet shop attacker

Seventy-three-year-old betting shop manager, Mr. William Bretherton, victim of a savage attack by a thief, sat up in bed at Waterloo Hospital yesterday afternoon and provided details for an artist to build up a picture of the young man who attacked him.

The artist was called in to help by police seeking Mr. Bretherton's assailant.

This picture, drawn by the artist, was today being used by detectives in the hunt. They are appealing for anyone who has any information which might help identify Mr. Bretherton's attacker, to contact Seaford Division Police Headquarters (Telephone Waterloo 2211).

A £50 reward has been offered for information leading to the arrest of the man who beat up Mr. Bretherton, whose home is at 52 Grosvenor Road, Walton.

Mr. Bretherton was alone in the betting shop evening, 118 Oxford Road for about 5.30 last Friday evening when a young man entered the shop, pulled out a knife and demanded, "Where's the money?"

Mr. Bretherton, semi-conscious, cut and bruised by the attack, was taken to hospital where he was found with a jaw fractured, was found soon afterwards by a caller at the shop, who, police think, may be the man who stole about £140 but left other money behind.

At Waterloo Hospital it is said that an improvement in Mr. Bretherton's condition is being maintained.

Intensive inquiries to trace the assailant are being carried out in the Crosby area and are being led by Detective Inspector Clifford Kellie and Detective Sergeant Philip Fenwick of Seaford Division of Lancashire Police. They believe the attacker probably lives in the Crosby area, that he had been in the betting shop earlier on Friday, and that he was probably looking for a place to stay outside the shop at 3.30 p.m. that day.

They are seeking information from anyone who passed the shop—which belongs to William Forbes Limited, commission agent—around that time and about any man seen in the Crosby area on Friday evening with newly blood-stained clothing, no matter how small the amount of blood on his face, hands, and clothing.

"It is a man known to a number of addresses, and when we trace him and interview him, I am sure we will get a satisfactory explanation of how he came to have a lot of blood on his face, hands, and clothing."

Childwall murder hunt: No crime

From information in their possession after their 20-hour search of the Childwall Valley Road area yesterday for the body of a woman supposed to have been left in a playing field, Liverpool Police are now satisfied that no crime was committed.

Detective Chief Superintendent Ernest Richardson, head of Liverpool C.I.D., said today: "We are now almost certain that all this trouble arose from some domestic dispute between two people."

"Our intensive investigation, having satisfied us that no-one was seriously injured, and the whole mystery will be solved, I hope, some time today, when we find a man for whom we are looking."
